Holy Days

Mary Wade acknowledges Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur - two major Jewish Holy Days (alongside Passover). Most Jewish holy days correspond with the seasons. So, while Passover symbolizes seeds planted in the Spring, Rosh Hashanah is the Fall harvest and New Year. For people of Jewish faith, it's a celebration and renewal, followed by reflection, atonement, and a resolve to do better in the year ahead - much like the calendar New Year on January 1! Some traditional foods at Rosh Hashanah include apples, honey, and challah bread.
